HELPING HANDS RECEIVES GRANT FROM THE ARCHDIOCESE OF HARTFORD

WINSTED, Conn. – Helping Hands, a nonprofit, community-based resource for senior home care, was awarded $2,700 from the 2019 Archdiocese of Hartford’s Annual Appeal. The grant supports medical transportation, personalized care for at-risk clients, companionship for home-hospice clients, and food assistance for those in need. “This grant will help us meet the rising costs for affordable home care,” said Director Irene Connole. “The funding will also help improve our clients’ health and wellness by providing them with access to dependable transportation, quality doctors and healthcare providers.”

Helping Hands was founded in 2006 as a Service Provider of quality home care for older adults. The organization is dedicated to preserving clients’ daily living and quality of life so they can remain safe and independent at home. Services include housekeeping, grocery shopping, personal care, companionship and respite for family caregivers. Helping Hands is affiliated with the Winsted Health Center Foundation and partially funded by a grant from Western Connecticut Area Agency on Aging.
